Robinson & Wood's headquarters is located in its own building next door to the courthouse in San Jose, California, in the heart of Silicon Valley.

Our attorneys are skilled in the handling of complex cases across the spectrum of civil litigation. Our areas of expertise include jury cases arising out of vehicular accidents, product failures, premises liability, construction defect, professional negligence, public entity liability, insurance company bad faith litigation, high tech litigation, complex commercial litigation, patent infringement, trade secret misappropriation, employment law, and environmental and toxic tort litigation.

Robinson & Wood is also a sustaining member of the Product Liability Advisory Council (PLAC), a national coalition of America's most prominent corporations and trial counsel engaged in products liability litigation.

The attorneys at Robinson & Wood have national reputations and stature. Leadership in professional associations, legislative advocacy, and legal education has been a hallmark of the firm during its entire existence. Members of the firm teach trial advocacy at Stanford Law School, deliver Continuing Education of the Bar lectures throughout the state, and frequently serve as Judges Pro Tem and mediators in complex litigation.

Robinson & Wood proudly announces that three of its senior shareholders have been recognized by their peers as 2008 Super Lawyers. The organization of Law & Politics performs the polling, research, and selection of Super Lawyers in a process designed to identify lawyers who have attained a high degree of peer recognition and professional achievement. Congratulations to Archie Robinson, David Henningsen, and Jesse Ruiz for their selection as Super Lawyers.
